Final editorial, mobile and Mailchimp QA status · Aug. 18, 2026

CURRENT STATE

The reporting, arithmetic, caveats and key links passed three independent reviews. Direct inbox, mobile, sender-authentication, signup and welcome-automation QA are complete. The Mailchimp campaign remains a draft and has not been sent.

FINAL LIVE QA

- Fresh iCloud test arrived at 3:08 a.m.; hosted images, the dated edition block and footer rendered correctly in Apple Mail with macOS dark appearance active.
- Mailchimp's 390px mobile preview passed, and the supplied physical-iPhone screenshots were reviewed.
- The mobile value rail is now fixed at 96px (104px desktop), with 18px/20px Georgia values, tabular figures and consistent 14px row padding.
- Sender authentication passed. One test routed through an internal Google Group landed in Spam; that forwarding artifact is not evidence of placement for external subscribers.
- The landing-page signup passed end to end and the welcome automation sent successfully.

AUDIENCE RECONCILED

25 valid recipients

Mailchimp contains 26 contacts: 25 subscribed and one unsubscribed. The temporary QA contact was archived after the end-to-end signup test, restoring the active counts. The campaign recipient count is correct; the unsubscribed contact must not be re-subscribed without consent.

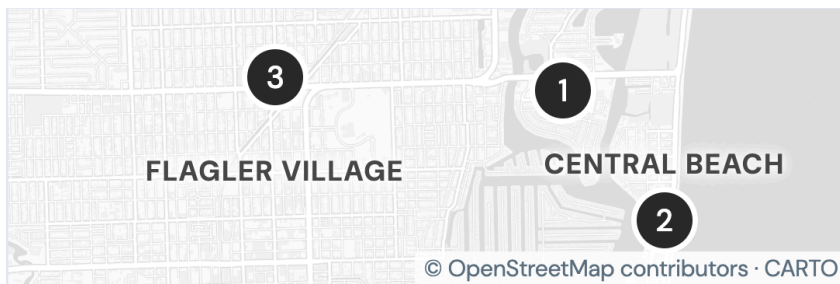

The welcome email's latest-newsletter link correctly points to the Mailchimp archive home. It is empty only because the debut campaign is still unsent; recheck that destination immediately after launch.

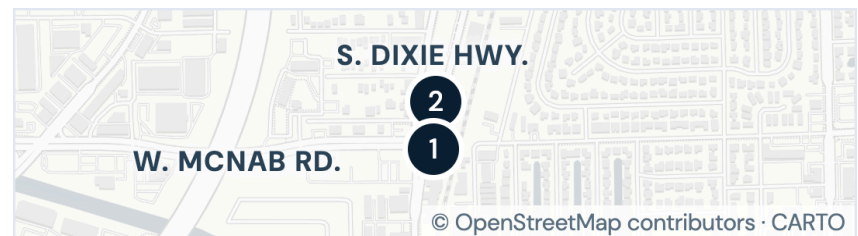

FLORIDA SIGNAL

DEVELOPMENT INTELLIGENCE

Final masthead: correct colored tower bars, larger lockup, continuous navy background and legible "Development Intelligence."

Week map: larger numbered markers with useful neighborhood orientation and consistent cool-gray styling.

Pompano map: readable S. Dixie Highway and W. McNab Road labels with both parcels visible at a useful scale.

EDITORIAL FIXES IMPLEMENTED

- Zara locator verified at seven Florida stores, four in Miami-Dade and none in Broward.
- Signal Board caveat corrected; inner board labeled “Development Watch.”
- Exact deed figures aligned: $59.95M, $44.8M, $7.48M and $2.38M.
- Deed-story links relabeled as Commercial Observer and South Florida Business Journal.
- Permit timeline corrected to demolition, electrical and plumbing filings.
- Unsourced 24% comparison and Zara store-size range removed.
- “MHCP COLAB” replaced with plain-language “planning consultant.”
- Em-dash count reduced to the logo alt text only.

DESIGN AND TECHNICAL FIXES

- Added a compact debut welcome from AJ Gill with the weekly cadence, upcoming data room and market expansion, plus one email link for tips, feedback or sponsorship.
- Section 01 shortened to “The Signals.”
- Share controls unified: LinkedIn blue plus Florida Signal navy, with visible “FWD” controls in the header and archive-share block.
- Mobile number columns use one 96px rail (104px desktop), 18px/20px Georgia values, tabular figures and uniform 14px row padding.
- Meeting schedule simplified and dark cards made calmer.
- Footer consolidated; Methodology removed; owned links route to thefloridasignal.com.
- Company LinkedIn URL used throughout.
- All four brand images now use absolute Mailchimp Content Studio CDN URLs in the final HTML.
- Social-card metadata restored once, with the dated Aug. 18 headline and hosted image `b06f263f-33ee-f974-6535-fa2f2a73a545.png`.
- Signup CTAs now share one campaign UTM, and the campaign reply-to is `desk@thefloridasignal.com`.
- The final archive-share block is labeled “AUG. 18, 2026 EDITION.”
- All public hyperlinks checked; 403 responses are bot-protected official/paywalled destinations, not dead links.
- Light-only color metadata retained to reduce dark-mode inversion.
